

PUBLICATION ETHICS AND PUBLICATION MALPRACTICE

Journal of Academic Finance (JoAF) is committed to the academic community in ensuring ethics, transparency and quality in publication. Plagiarism is strictly forbidden. Papers found to be plagiarized will be removed. All received papers are checked with a Plagiarism Detection Software Program offered by sponsors before review process. While signing the publication agreement the author(s) have to warrant that the article and associated materials are original; it does not infringe the copyright of anyone and it was neither submitted nor published previously. Furthermore the authors have to warrant that there was a full consensus of all the authors. In respect of the COPE's Code of Conduct for Journal Publishers (for more information see COPE), the publication ethics of the Journal of Academic Finance (JoAF) includes the most important ethical standards for involved parties including authors, editors and peer reviewers. Any conflicts of interests are to be reported directly to the editor of Journal of Academic Finance (JoAF).

Editors' duties

Editors have complete responsibility and authority to reject/accept an article. Editors should have no conflict of interest with respect to articles they reject/accept, they only accept a paper when reasonably certain. When errors are found, they promote publication of correction or retraction, and preserve anonymity of reviewers. Editors have to maintain the confidentiality of any information related to submitted manuscripts. Editors have to accomplish the evaluation of the manuscripts an objective and nondiscriminatory way.

Unpublished materials of submitted manuscripts must not be used for other research purposes without written consents of the author(s).

Reviewer's duties

Journal of Academic Finance (JoAF) highly appreciates the reviewers kind support by agreeing to review an article for our journal. Kindly make sure you review the paper confidentially, avoid contacting the authors, do not used for personal benefit and reviewed objectively. The reviewers must track any uncited sources or materials that have been published before.

Before they are sent to reviewers, all Journal of Academic Finance (JoAF) papers are previewed by our editor-in-chief. The papers are also checked for their originality using a plagiarism software. However to our experience, there have been cases of plagiarism which the software has failed to detect. If you doubt the originality of any part(s) of the work, please inform the editor.

Journal of Academic Finance (JoAF) reviewers are requested to evaluate the articles based on a number of evaluative criteria available in the Review Form and to leave comments in the manuscript itself. These comments are very valuable for the professional development of any authors. Having reviewed the paper, the reviewer is requested to make any of the following decisions:

- Accept as it is;
- Accept with minor revisions;
- Accept with major revisions;
- Reject

Journal of Academic Finance (JoAF) papers are proofread before they are published, and the reviewers are by no means obliged to correct or mark language errors or typos. Reviewing is undeniably an invaluable and noble act, we cannot compensated it by any means.

Reviewers are requested to review the Review Policy of the journal before reviewing any paper.

Author's duties

The authors are committed to submit only original work. Therefore, submitted manuscript and already published research are unethical and unacceptable.

The manuscripts should include sufficient details and references for replication purposes. Only significantly contributing citations should be listed in the manuscripts.

The corresponding authors take full responsibility for the content and all legal aspects of their manuscripts.

The authors should communicate any applicable funding or financial support of the research and the funder's relation to the contribution.

The authors are committed to inform the editor about discovered errors in their already published manuscripts.
